Emergency Procedure in the Event of an Earthquake

- If you are near an exit, leave the building immediately.
- If you aren't near an exit, seek shelter under/near a solid structure (an interior wall, corner of the room, a desk or table) then once the shaking has stopped, calmly leave the building via an emergency exit route, not the elevator.
- If an earthquake occurs during the day or at night, only use the emergency fire escapes to leave the building.
- Always keep to the sides of the corridors and staircases; do not stand in the center of large rooms.
- Once outside, stay away from any buildings. Find an open area away from any overhead power lines, and wait there until the earthquake stops.
- Do not wait for any signals or cues to start evacuating the building.
- Those in charge may alert those around them to evacuate, but they will not alert students in rooms.
- If the earthquake is strong, wait for the shaking to stop, then check to see if the emergency escape routes are clear and usable before leaving the building.
- If the building is badly damaged and the emergency escape routes cannot be used, wait for help and don't do anything that could cause further collapses.

St. John's University Recycling Policy

All residents are asked to comply with national Italian recycling laws. In the common areas there are 5 designated recycling and trash bins for: compost and organic waste, glass and metal cans, plastic bottles and plastic packaging, non-recycling and trash, and paper and cardboard. When cooking in the common areas or kitchens on the 3rd or 4th floor, please use the designated trash and recycling bins appropriately. Likewise there are designated recycling and trash bins on the 1st and 2nd floor.

All personal student trash and recycling is the responsibility of each individual student and must be properly disposed of in the designated trash and recycling bins found on the corner of Via Marcantonio Colonna and Via dei Gracchi (when exiting the school, take a left and the recycling and trash dumpsters are on the corner). Students MAY NOT leave their trash or recycling in common areas or outside their room for university cleaning staff to dispose of. Students who do not comply with this university procedure may be subject to university-applied sanctions or monetary fines.

Moreover, failure to comply with recycling regulations outside of the university building may result in a municipal fine of €100 per improperly disposed item. There are municipal Italian trash and recycling officials who monitor trash and recycling traffic in the city. Extra trash bags are available in reception, room 209.
